

Smithfield Foundation Scholarship Application

First established in 2002, the Smithfield Foundation is a nonprofit organization that acts as the philanthropic wing of Smithfield Foods. Since its inception, the Smithfield Foundation has been proud to provide educational scholarships to the dependent children and grandchildren of our full-time and retired employees. Employees must have worked with the company a minimum of 18 months for their dependent child or grandchild to be eligible. Scholarships are need based, and the amount is determined by the financial aid office for the school, based on the unmet financial need demonstrated on the FAFSA® form.

These scholarships are now available at the following 15 colleges and universities: Christopher Newport University, Fayetteville State University, Hampden-Sydney College, Iowa State University, Johnson and Wales University, Kansas State University, Norfolk State University, NC State University, North Carolina A&T, Paul D. Camp Community College, Radford University, University of Missouri, University of Nebraska–Lincoln, Virginia Tech, and Virginia Union.

Recipients of the Smithfield Foundation scholarship must maintain a minimum 2.5 cumulative GPA to remain eligible. Students must also submit a letter to the Smithfield Foundation at the beginning of each school year to give an update on their educational achievements and goals.
